SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1882.

For Governor,

EDWIN C. BURLEIGH.

[illegible]

The Democratic capital has recovered [illegible] over Speaker Reed's alleged defeat in the House, but the Speaker still seems to be master of the situation.

The Democratic leaders found that the charge of lavish extravagance in the administration of the Navy Department was "structural" weakness" and they have called it in for repairs.

The Springfield Republican is not so much in love with the Chicago Tribune as it was a short time since. It even accuses it of "radicalism, partisanship" instead of explaining it as a high bred journal.

The Maine Republican League, which was organized Monday, adopted some resolutions against the extension of a Prohibitory law. The Democratic orators generally, in earlier or later years, have [illegible] that such a law [illegible] the Legislature, [illegible] of prohibitory temperance teaching.

The Hallowell wing of the Democratic party has [illegible] Governor Davis [illegible] Democratic [illegible] Hallowell [illegible] charge and [illegible] ought to be pushed into the Hingham division. The old Hunks with an eye to Mr. Baker's "party" shall be [illegible] for the place and do not [illegible] this Hingham division.

It is not a complimentary definition to the Stalwarts when the Democratic Congress [illegible] that on election day almost to the [illegible] in the South without the aid of fraud. It is a confession that the South is so backward that it proposes to [illegible] to Stalwarts, a country which proposes that all votes shall be fairly and honestly counted and returned. This is all that we claim here.

The Democratic majority in Congress [illegible] Republican votes. Twenty-five Republican votes were needed against it and only three Democratic votes. The bill therefore went back to the House in the amended form as a Democratic measure, but in spite of this fact a few more Republicans in the House joined with the solid Democratic vote to oppose the adoption of the bill to the Conference on Objections. This singular combination was [illegible] on several bodies and leaves the final disposition of the bill in a state of uncertainty. A handful of Republicans who they join a combination with a minority Democratic minority are playing in sorry luck.

The Richmond (Va.) Republican says: "Gen. G. A. Boutelle was renominated for Congress yesterday, unanimously, by the Republicans of the Fourth District of Maine. This honor was well deserved. Mr. Boutelle is well known and very popular with the Republicans of New Jersey. He was in his days good service on the stump during the last two Presidential campaigns. He has frequently been the guest of ex-Congressman Phelps, and has many warm friends and admirers among the Empire county Republicans. Capitol Republicans extend distinctive to an editor of the party during the war and to new Chairman of the House Committee on Naval Affairs. As he had 4,000 majority at his last election, we rather think he will not have much difficulty in getting there again."

In closing his report defending the dark of the National Treasury, [illegible] the House the committee report "Two [illegible] [illegible] to say here that they believe that Trend, [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

ENGLISHMEN KICKING

Because We Believe in Protecting American Citizens.

LONDON, June 20. In the House of Commons this evening Howard Vincent asked if the government would require America to modify the duties upon British products before modifying the rules governing the importation of cattle into Great Britain.

Sir James Ferguson explained that the restrictions upon cattle imports into Great Britain were based solely on sanitary considerations, without regard to the fiscal systems of other nations.

Mr. Vincent thereupon laid upon the House table notice of a motion that, as the American tariff will inflict great injury upon the trade of Sheffield and British cutlers and artisans generally, the House consider whether a free market ought to longer giving to the competing products of a foreign state which puts a prohibitory tariff on British goods." (Conservative cheers.)

CONSIDERABLE COMMOTION

Caused by the Disappearance of Mount Shasta's Peak.

Legislative Appropriation Bill Passed by the Senate.

The House Still in Arms Over the Silver Bill.

The Free Silver Men Unable to Force a Vote.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 20. The Post Office Appropriation bill and Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bills were reported and placed on the calendar.

Consideration of the Legislative Appropriation bill was resumed.

The amendment to increase the salary of the Commissioner of the Land Office from $4,000 to $5,000 was agreed to—yeas 28; nays 16.

An amendment to increase the salary of the Chief Clerk of the Department of Justice from $2,200 to $3,000 was agreed to—yeas 28, nays 18.

Mr. Teller moved to increase the salary of the Financial Clerk of the Senate from $2,000 to $3,650; ruled out on a point of order. An appeal was taken from the decision of the presiding officer and a long discussion took place.

Mr. Plumb spoke of extravagance in the matter of its employes. The expense now, he said, is at least $100,000 a year more than it ought to be, and the evil is growing every year. It would soon become so great that it would become a political issue. He would not be surprised if men were soon elected to the Senate on the pledge of ruthlessly applying the knife to the excrescences around the Senate.

The appeal from the decision of the chair was laid on the table.

The bill was formally reported to the Senate and the amendment made in Committee of the Whole was agreed to.

Mr. Dawes moved to increase the salary of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs from $4,000 to $5,000. Defeated.

Mr. Stewart moved to strike out the item of $3,000 for the executive officer of the Geological survey. Not agreed to.

Mr. Blair asked unanimous consent to have the salary of the Commissioner of Education increased from $3,000 to $5,000.

Mr. Allison objected.

Mr. Stewart again offered an amendment to strike out the item for an executive officer of the Geological survey. He spoke of the survey as fungus, drawn up not on statute, but on appropriation bills.

Mr. Davis reminded him that the whole army had grown up on appropriation bills and the Weather Bureau had grown up from an appropriation of $15,000 to its present magnitude, costing over a million a year.

Mr. Stewart denounced the geological survey as being of no practical use, although the salary list of it alone is over $100,000 a year. The aggregate expense is over a million and all grown up, he said, out of $5,000 for executing a map.

Mr. Edmunds said the geological survey had started from an appropriation of $10,000 for a survey of the Colorado river.

Mr. Davis explained the operations of the survey and the importance of its work.

Mr. Ingalls said there might be too many persons employed on the geological survey, but no bureau of the Government had more cordially approved itself to the common sense and intelligence of all people as were its operations was known. There is not a territory west of the Mississippi that has not been greatly increased in value by the work of that bureau. No Government publication is sought for with more avidity by cultivated readers than the contributions of the geological survey. It had been of enormous scientific and practical value. Instead of being curtailed and diminished the operations of the survey ought to be extended.

Discussion was continued by Messrs. Edmunds, Teller, Stewart, Platt, Call, Reagan and Gorman. At the close of the discussion the amendment was withdrawn by Mr. Stewart and the bill was passed.

Mr. Edmunds offered a resolution, which went over till tomorrow, for the appointment of a committee of seven Senators to take into immediate consideration the State administrative service of the Senate and report as early as may be what measure should be adopted in respect to the greatest efficiency and economy of the service.

The Senate at 6 A. M. adjourned.

House.

After prayer by the chaplain, yesterday's contest was renewed. The journal of yesterday's proceedings was not read and the Speaker announced the pending question to be on ordering the previous question on the motion made by Mr. Mills, of Texas, to approve the journal of Wednesday as amended by the resolution of yesterday.

The previous question was ordered—yeas, 156; nays, 122.

Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, before the announcement of the vote changed his vote to the affirmative and then moved a reconsideration.

Mr. Tracey, of New York, voted with the Republicans.

The Republicans voting in the affirmative with the Democrats were Messrs. Barton, Carter, De Haven, Hermann, Kelley, Morrow and Townsend, of Colorado.

Mr. Mills moved to table the motion to reconsider.

The motion to reconsider was tabled—yeas 131, nays 129.

The question then recurred on approving the journal of Wednesday's proceedings as amended.

The motion to approve the journal of Wednesday as amended was agreed to—yeas 135, nays 130, and the clerk then proceeded to read the journal of yesterday's proceedings amid a triumphant buzz on the Democratic side.

The journal having been read and approved the House voted to consider the conference report on the anti-trust bill.

After a short debate, in the course of which Mr. Kerr, of Iowa, declared that it was the first bill directed against trusts ever passed by the American Congress, and in fourteen years' control of the House the Democratic party had not produced a syllable of legislation of the kind, the report was adopted—yeas 238, nays 0.

Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, presented the report of the Elections Committee in the contested Mississippi election case of Chalmers vs. Morgan, in favor of Morgan.

Mr. Rowell, of Illinois, presented the report from the same committee upon the case of Miller vs. Elliot, in favor of Miller.

Mr. Bland, of Missouri, offered his resolution to take up the silver bill.

Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, made a point of order that the motion was not privileged and the only way to reach the Speaker's table was to follow the order of morning business.

Mr. Conger, of Iowa, added as a further point, amid sarcastic Democratic laughter, that the bill was not on the Speaker's table but in the hands of the Coinage Committee. The original House bill had an indefinite appropriation clause and the bill as it came from the Senate had the identical clause except that the order of words was slightly changed.

Mr. Peters, of Kansas, asked if the appropriations were not for different purposes, one for free coinage and the other for something else.

Mr. Springer did not think so. The Senate appropriation clause would not involve an expenditure of two per cent of the sum appropriated by the House bill. The purpose was identical and the new matter inserted by the Senate was not subject to reference to the Committee of the Whole. If the friends of free silver would vote in the proper direction they would soon have an opportunity to vote on the bill as it came from the Senate.

Mr. Conger, of Iowa, maintained that the appropriations were for different purposes. Aside from that all that the House had done so far was to blot out or erase the reference of the bill. There was record evidence that the Speaker referred the bill to the Committee on Coinage and that it had been delivered by the journal clerk to the clerk of the Coinage Committee and that he had it in his possession.

If the House wanted to recall the bill from the Coinage Committee it could do so by proceeding under the rules.

Mr. Morrill, of California, said the action of the House yesterday was exceedingly significant. The last vote there was no reference at all. The Speaker had no authority to refer the bill and the notice was not valuable, but said.

Mr. [illegible] Speaker, the bill was in the hands of the Committee on Coinage.

Mr. Bland—If the gentleman from California [illegible] the Speaker under rule 24 to lay the matters on his table, including the silver bill, before the House for action.

The Speaker said perhaps he could simplify the matter a little and suggested to Mr. Bland he understood his wish to be simply to get at this matter when it would naturally come up, supposing it was on the Speaker's table and not passing on the matter at this time. What the chair proposed to do was that when the bill or its halfmate, whatever that might be, was reached, it should be brought before the House. But the gentleman did not seem to consider that this was Friday, private bill day. Private bills alone are in order.

Mr. Bland asked whether the bill would be laid before the House to-morrow morning.

The Speaker declined to decide the question until the proper time.

Mr. McComas, of Maryland, demanded regular order.

The Speaker said that order was a private bill, which he passed to the reading clerk.

Mr. Springer of Illinois, wished to know when the chair might be expected to decide where the bill was.

The Speaker—Whenever the bill would be in order, providing the views of the other side were correct, about which the chair presents no opinion, because he does not think it a proper time.

Messrs. Bland and Springer finally insisted on a specific ruling, the Speaker finally ruled that Mr. Bland's resolution (to proceed to the consideration of the bill) was not in order under rules.

Mr. Bland appealed from the decision.

Mr. McKinley moved the lay the appeal on the table.

The yeas and nays were ordered, pending which Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, moved that the House adjourn.

The motion was defeated.

The hour of five arrived and the House, under the rule, took a recess until eight o'clock.

At eight, when a motion was made to go into Committee of the Whole to consider private pension bills, Mr. Enloe, of Tennessee, made the point of no quorum.

The House adjourned immediately without transacting any business.

The Second Days Situation in the House.

At the end of the second days battle over the Silver bill, leaves the situation of the bill itself, if that could be defined, practically in the hands of the clerk of the Committee on Coinage, but where it is from a parliamentary standpoint cannot be stated until the Speaker, at the proper time, as he says, rules upon the question. Undoubtedly the great majority of the Republicans take the ground that it is still with the Committee on Coinage.

The free coinage men intend to renew the battle to-morrow and endeavor by voting down all privileged motions, to get to the Speaker's table.

The whips are earnestly at work. Test votes yesterday revealed the fact that 27 Republicans are absent and unpaired, against 10 Democrats in a like predicament. The Republican leaders started out to-day under the impression that they had a majority, to reverse yesterday's action in expunging the reference of the silver bill from the journal. After the first two they were undeceived, thrown upon the defensive and compelled to abandon that plan owing to absenteeism.

THE WHIG has received a copy of the pamphlet issued by the passenger department of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railway, describing the attractions of the road. The description is from the pen of Julian Ralph, and is of a very attractive character. The pamphlet is profusely illustrated and is interesting reading matter. Its large maps are also handy for reference.

Maine horsemen will regret that the circuit races which were to be held this month at Fairfield, Augusta and Lewiston have been given up on account of a lack of entries. The season has been very backward and horse breeders have had no opportunity to train their horses and get them into condition for races. An effort is being made to have them come off in July or August.

A dangerous counterfeit bank note for $5 has been detected by parties in the city says the Kennebec Journal. It has the appearance of being much worn and purports to have been issued by the National Bank of Tamaqua, Pa., in July, 1863. It is most perfect in appearance, the face being printed from a genuine plate, and the imperfections being only on the back and in the quality of the paper. The note presented was promptly defaced.

The Maine State College junior prize declamation will occur at Orono this evening, and several will attend from this city. The speakers have been well chosen, and will make an interesting order of exercises. The music for the occasion will be furnished by the Arbuckleiana Quartette and Mr. K. A. Ringwall, of this city. Their contributions to the programme will be of an attractive character. Mr. E. C. Adams will render a cornet solo, and Mr. Oscar E. Waggatt a violin solo.

NON-PARTISAN TEMPERANCE. A correspondent writes: Miss Anna Edwards, of Cleveland, O., and Mrs. Florence C. Porter, of Old Town, organized a Non-Partisan Woman's Christian Temperance Union at Dover and Foxcroft on the 17th inst. The union is composed of influential ladies and elected the following officers: Mrs. Ellen Otter, president; Mrs. Edward J. Hayes, vice president; Mrs. C. A. Woodbury, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ellen, recording secretary; Mrs. Baker, treasurer. Miss Anna Edwards will give an illustrated temperance lecture in Old Town this evening. Admission free, but a collection will be taken.

OUR BAND MUSICIANS. The Bangor Band will give its next out of doors concert on Tuesday evening of next week and another very attractive programme will be arranged for the occasion. Concerts will be given each week through the summer and they will be looked forward to by those who enjoy band music and there are very many such people in this city. The concert Tuesday evening is an instalment of the excellent music that is in store for those who attend the concerts during the summer. There is talk of new uniforms for the band and it is understood that an effort will be made in that direction. While the present uniforms are neat they are more of an undress uniform than the regulation regalia and nothing is too good for the Bangor Band.

IMPROVEMENTS ABOUT THE CITY. Several of the larger residences about town are being improved by the construction of additions, piazzas, verandas, etc. Among those who are taking this action are F. A. Wilson, Esq., and Messrs. A. C. Jerrard and Julius Waterman. Many of the house lots and surrounding grounds have been and are being greatly improved by new lawns, taking away of fences, filling in, etc., and some places would hardly be recognized, so some quite extensive work has been done in many instances. Bangor has many handsome residences, which have slightly and well kept lawns and grounds and they will probably land into enthusiastic land beyond this summer, judging from the interest of now that is being given them.

GOOD VENTILATION. Representatives Hall at the State House will be in excellent condition at the meeting of the next Legislature, as extensive improvements are in progress. Among the improvements that of good ventilation will be well appreciated. Each Representative will find under his seat a register through which will come an almost imperceptible current of pure warm air that will pass up and off with added impurities through a large ventilator in the roof of the dome. Cold air is taken fresh from out of doors, acquires any amount of desired warmth in a heated coil of pipe and is then forced through large pipes to all parts of the building where exists larger than the inlets will be afforded for the air to pass freely off. This air will be forced into the Representatives' Hall through large pipes and either side that meet in the centre and diffuse this warm air underneath the whole floor. It passes from there into the room above through the registers that are under each desk. In the manner it is believed that perfect ventilation will be secured.

SEARSPORT'S SMALL POX CASES.

It is Hoped that There Will be no Further Spread of the Disease.

As was announced in THE WHIG a short time ago a sailor named Fowler came to his home in Searsport, sick with small pox, and afterwards died. Since then other cases have developed and there have been more or less sensational reports concerning the spread of the disease. A WHIG reporter had an interview yesterday with a member of the Searsport board of health, and learned the facts of the case. At the present time there are three persons sick with varioloid, Mrs. Ann Fowler, her daughter, Miss Eva Fowler, and Capt. Nelson Smart, a relative of the family. Mrs. Fowler is able to be about the house, and Capt. Smart has a good appetite, and is not now very sick, but Miss Fowler is quite ill. They are all at the pest house on the outskirts of the town, and isolated from everybody, except those who attend them.

Every possible precaution is being taken to prevent a spread of the disease, and it is hoped that it can be checked where it is. All who have been exposed to the disease have been quarantined, and vaccinated, and the work of vaccination among the people of the town is going on as rapidly as possible. The work is being done under the direct on of the board of health, consisting of Dr. C. W. Gould and Messrs. A. A. Clement, J. G. Pendleton and W. B. Sawyer, and it is said that the work is being thoroughly done.

On Saturday Capt. Smart was shaved at the town barber shop, and on Sunday he was taken sick. Since then all the persons who followed him at the barber shop have been vaccinated and quarantined, the paraphernalia in the shop has been burned and the shop itself thoroughly fumigated.

The schools have been closed to prevent any spread of the disease among the young people. One of the teachers was taken ill a few days ago and left for another town near by. Her illness was not, however, small-pox.

At the request of Dr. Young of the State Board of Health, and of the Searsport board, Dr. J. F. Hill, of Waterville, went to Searsport Thursday to investigate the matter. He returned yesterday and reported to Secretary Young. Yesterday afternoon the Secretary of the Searsport Board of Health received a telegram from Secretary Young stating that he was much pleased with the account given by Dr. Hill, of the work being done by the Searsport board to prevent the spread of the disease and that it was evidently being handled as well as possible.

It is thought at Searsport that there will be no further spread of the disease and it is certainly to be hoped that such will be the fact.

The Coming Muster

Preparations for the annual encampment of the State militia in Augusta are rapidly going forward. The camp will be known as Camp Burleigh in honor of the Commander-in-Chief. The form of the encampment will be the same as last year. Under general orders issued by General Henry L. Mitchell commanding the brigade, the command will go into camp for five days, beginning Monday, June 30. Time tables giving the hours of the movements of military trains will be issued at an early date, and commanding officers will assemble at their respective commands and embark for Augusta by the trains specified in the same table.

Among the appointments and promotions are the following: Capt. Robert H. Burnham, Rockland, company H, 1st regiment, has been appointed inspector of the brigade, with the rank of Major, from Jan. 26, 1890, vice Maj. Plaisted, resigned. Captain George H. Doughty, Augusta, company F, 1st regiment, has been appointed Quartermaster of the brigade, with the rank of Captain, from Feb. 13, 1890, vice Capt. Paul, resigned. Arthur K. Hunt, Portland, has been appointed Aid-de-camp on the staff of the General commanding, with the rank of Captain, from May 28, 1890, vice Capt. Woodbury, promoted. Willard L. Bowker, Bangor, has been appointed Aid-de-camp upon the staff of the General commanding, with the rank of 1st Lieutenant, from May 28, 1890, vice Lieut. Sprague, promoted.

Capt. George Doughty, Brigade Quartermaster, Capt. Charles A. Plaisted, Brigade Commissary Sergeant, and Warren E. Ritter, Brigade Hospital Steward, will each report at Camp Burleigh for duty, June 28, at 10 o'clock A. M., and make the necessary arrangements for the arrival of the command. Colonels of regiments, the commanding officers of the battery and Frontier Guards, will send their quartermasters, commissary sergeants and company cooks in advance, to arrive at Camp Burleigh not later than Saturday, June 28, at 5 o'clock P. M., with orders to put quarters in order and prepare dinner for the men Monday noon, June 30.

Major Wilber A. Bumps, Surgeon of the Second Regiment, has been detailed as acting medical director of the brigade until Jan. 1, 1891. Major Bumps will forthwith forward his requisition for medical supplies for use during the encampment, and make a written report at the close of the encampment.

Col. Brett, of the Second Regiment, and Col. Kendall, of the First Regiment, will each detail eight men and direct them to report to Major Bumps at 1 o'clock P. M., 30th inst., for duty in the ambulance corps during the encampment. In making this detail care will be taken to detail men who will take an interest in learning to care for the sick.

THE THIEF CAPTURED.

Dr. Sumner Laughton's Horse and Carriage Recovered in Houlton.

The efforts of the police to recover the horse and carriage of Dr. Sumner Laughton, stolen Thursday evening have been rewarded, and the property will be at once returned to its owner. Last evening City Marshal Whitney received a telegram from William A. Ray, chief of police of Houlton, stating that the thief had been captured and the horse and carriage recovered. Instructions were requested. City Marshal Whitney at once replied requesting that the thief and team be held until his arrival. He will go to Houlton today and will return with them as soon as possible.

Yesterday morning from information obtained by the police it was made known to them that the team had been stolen, and that the thief was hastening as rapidly as possible toward the Provinces. Telegrams were immediately sent by Marshal Whitney to various up river towns, giving a description of the team, and requesting that it be stopped by the officers if it was seen. The police learned that the team had reached Molunous yesterday morning at nine o'clock, had left at eleven, the thief having evidently stopped probably to rest the horse.

The horse had the appearance of having been driven hard. The thief was evidently in a hurry and the wagon at Molunous was probably not very agreeable to the nerves of the driver. It was not known at Molunous at that time to the people who saw it that the team had been stolen, or a stop would at once have been put upon any further progress. People at Veazie and Old Town are also quite sure that they saw the team when it passed through those places and they are doubtless right, as it was the probable route taken.

As the fact was made clear that the thief was making tracks for the Provinces, the despatch to the chief of police at Houlton was a necessary consequence, and it bore good fruit. The officers there evidently waited for their man and when he appeared captured him, probably considerably to his surprise, as having a good start and being not far from the border, across which he would have been reasonably safe, he doubtless had visions of success in his nefarious attempt. As the horse is fast and strong he made very good time, Houlton being over one hundred miles from this city, and the greater part of the ride being in the night time.

City Marshal Whitney will drive back from Houlton with the thief and team to Vanceboro, where the cars will be taken for this city. At the present time it is not known who the thief is, as his name was not given in the telegram. He will doubtless receive the full penalty of the law for the deed which he is guilty of.

KAPPA SIGMA.

Annual Banquet of the Psi Chapter of the Maine State College.

At the Bangor House last evening were about twenty students of the Maine State College, who were there for the purpose of holding the annual banquet of the Psi Chapter of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

The members seated themselves at the tables in the large dining room of the hotel a few minutes before nine o'clock, and in a short time were engaged in the discussion of the delicious viands which were placed before them—a very pleasant duty. The menu contained a bounteous assortment of the best dishes which the hotel larder affords, and that means that it was a feast entirely satisfying to the epicurean lopings of the most fastidious. The manner of serving was of course very efficient.

The post prandial exercises were of an interesting character, and the listeners enjoyed the flow of eloquence and humor with which the toasts abounded. Mr. W. N. Patten acted as toast master, and the following were the
